Carson City Daily Appeal, Wednesday, September 16, 1908

Phillip A. Doyle, One of the best known residents of this city where he has resided for many years passed away at his apartments in the Carson Exchange Hotel this afternoon after an illness last over a couple of weeks.

Mr. Doyle has been suffering from dropsy for some time and a couple of weeks ago was forced to cease his work as moulder in the foundry of the V. and T. His case was not considered serious and death was unexpected.

Mr. Doyle was a native of Ireland and was in his 66th year. He came to this country when a small boy and located with his parents in California.

In the early 70's he came to Nevada and located at Virginia City where he was employed as a moulder having learned his trade in New York City. A number of years ago he accepted the position of Master Moulder at the local railroad machine shops which position he held for many years. Several years ago he went north where he located but later returned to Carson City and since that time has been employed here by the railroad company. He was an expert at his trade and was a man well liked by his employers.

He leaves a wife in this city and a son and a daughter living in the northwest.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.
