Haynie,, J. W. - Obituary

Sudden Death

The Morning Appeal, April 9, 1897

Yesterday afternoon Cap't. Haynie one of the oldest residents of Carson was found dead in his bed at his residence near the depot.

Cap't. Haynie was a single man about 65 and at one time was a very wealthy man, one of the wealthiest in this section. He was a civil engineer by profession and a man of unusual ability. When found his hand was upon his heart and he was supposed to have succumbed to heart disease. It is said that he has lived in this State nearly 40 years.

He belonged to the Masons, and was a man who leaves many staunch friends in this city and throughout the State.

The Funeral of Captain Haynie

The Morning Appeal, April 11, 1897

The funeral of the late Captian J. W. Haynie took place yesterday afternoon from the parlors of Custer Post, G. A. R., at 2 o'clock.

The bier was draped and Reverend Eddie conducted the services in the hall assisted by the Episcopal choir. The remains were escorted to the cemetery by a detail of the Carson Guards, the G. A. R. and a large number of citizens.

At the grave the impressive ceremony of the G. A. R. was held. The pall bearers were B. A. McClure, R. K. Colcord, A. M. Ardery, Major Ford, F. J. McCollough, J. G. West.

Deceased leaves no relatives so far known except a sister in Ohio.

Captain John W. Haynie entered the service of the United States November 10, 1852 as first sergeant of Company C, Ohio Cavalry; promoted to the first Lieutenant and Adjutant May 1, 1863 and to Captain January 30, 1865; was honorably mustered out July 24, 1865.
