Death of Wm. Haines

The Morning Appeal, November 18, 1903

J. W. Haines, one of the pioneer residents of western Nevada, died in this city yesterday. He has been suffering with dropsy for some time and while his death was expected, yet his many friends were surprised to learn of his taking off, for it was but a short time ago that he was on the street.

Bill Haines has followed stationery engineering for many years, and there is hardly a plant in the section from a saw mill to a quartz mill that he has not pulled the throttle on. He was a jovial, good natured, open hearted man and made friends wherever known.

The deceased was a member of the G. A. R., having served in the Civil War, and enlisted from California. He was an active member of the Custer Post G. A. R. of this city, under whose auspices the funeral will take place. Deceased was 63 years.
