JAMES LOHR DIES AT COUNTY HOSPITAL

Carson City Daily Appeal, March 12, 1934

James Lohrs, well know in western Nevada since he came here in 1881, passed away in the county hospital last night.

The deceased was born in Columbus, Ohio, February 22, 1847. He served in an Ohio Cavalry regiment during the Civil War and afterwards saw the service in the regular army in the Apache country.

For a time he worked for Raycraft Brothers and drove stage. He also spent some time at mining and ranching and was employed by Charles Fulstone fourteen years. He retired about three years ago and about that time received a large payment of back pension due.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at two o'clock in the afternoon and will be conducted by the Rev. M. J. Hershey and Capitol Post of the American Legion.

The remains are at the Kitzmeyer-Elges undertaking parlors.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR LATE JAMES LOHR

Carson City Daily Appeal, March 14, 1934

Funeral services for the late James Lohr, veteran of the Civil War and Indian campaigns, were conducted in the Kitzmeyer-Elges undertaking parlors at two o'clock this afternoon, by the Rev. M. J. Hershey, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Vocal selections were rendered by Dr. H. E. Burnett. Capitol Post of the American Legion furnished a color guard and firing squad. Rev. Hershey also conducted the services at the grave, in the G. A. R. Cemetery at Lone Mountain.

The pallbearers were George B. Russell, John Frick, Clarence Wilcox, Ed Sweetland, James Hicks and W. N. Evans.

"Taps" was sounded at the grave by Robert Golightly.
