Eagle Valley Golf Course
681 St. Andrews Drive
Dayton, NV 89403

Dear Esteemed Eagle Valley Golf Course Patrons,

It gives me great pleasure to inform you that Eagle Valley's General Manager Jim Kepler, PGA has been selected as the recipient of the 2009 NCPGA Golf Professional of the Year. The NCPGA Golf Professional of the Year Award is bestowed on PGA members for their exhibition of spirit, determination, business acumen, professionalism, promotion of the game of golf as well as service to the Section and the Association. His outstanding achievements reflect most favorably on you, the patrons of Eagle Valley Golf Course, his fellow professionals and the Association.

On behalf of the Northern California Section of the PGA of America, I would like to thank each of you for supporting Jim's service to the game of golf and the Association.

The PGA of America is dedicated to training and supporting PGA Professionals as they take on new and additional responsibilities in their jobs, as well as growing interest in the game by making golf accessible to everyone.

Once again, thank you for your support of all PGA Professionals and the game of golf.

Sincerely,

I'm writing this letter to let you know how much I enjoy and appreciate Carson City Nevada and the support the City and its establishments have given me over the years in hosting my annual Golf Tournament, The Stepmother.

We have held this tournament in Carson City for the past 27 years. The number of golfers and non-golfers has fluctuated from 60+ to 100+ over this period of time.

We couldn't imagine taking the tournament anywhere else but Carson City. The golf courses are amazing. We play a two-day tournament and at least half the folks arrive a day early and play a practice round. In addition to a handful of local courses, we always play Eagle Valley. It was nice to see Jim Kepler back and in the position of General Manager. I can't even begin to describe the changes to the property in the last three years. The West Course is in superb condition and one of the best that we have played. The improvements to the greens and course conditions as a whole should be the envy of any other course. Jim and his staff treat our group fantastically and we wouldn't consider moving to another course.

In the early years, we stayed at the Ormsby House, and for the past 20+, we have stayed at the Carson Station Hotel Casino. Both Hotel/Casino's have gone above and beyond anything that any other hotel/casino in any other town could do for us.

This year, both of my sons joined me for the tournament. To my surprise, they found some fantastic bars where they danced all night just down the street from the Carson Station.

And of course, the trip wouldn't be complete without the food and gambling. My group gambles at the Carson Station most of the time, but I always catch them heading out the door to hit the Nugget, Fandango's or several of the other Casino's. And for food, there is always someone from my group at Red's 395, eating, drinking or singing Karaoke. For my folks, Adele's is a must every year, and for me, well, 10 of us closed Kim Lee's Sushi restaurant on Thursday night; they stayed well after hours and earned an extra $100 tip.

Next year will be my 28th year in Carson City. The dates are already chosen, and I imagine it will grow to 75+ players or more. It gets bigger each year because of the great job Carson City does to support my tournament. So thank you Carson! You allow me to show family and friends a great time, and raise a little money for a great charity each year.

Warm Regards,

Doug Lucken

Successful media tour of golf courses funded again

Rob Sabo, 1/3/2011

Northern Nevada Business Weekly

An offhand remark about how to improve exposure to regional golf courses led to a media event that's brought widespread publicity for nine golf courses in northern Nevada.

The Nevada Commission on Tourism last month decided to once again provide $3,000 to the Carson City Convention and Visitors Bureau to promote the event.

Phil Weidinger, a South Lake Tahoe public relations expert and organizer of the tour known as "Divine 9," says media golf tours of the area in the 1990s were too limited — golfers consistently requested rounds at the scenic Genoa Lakes and Resort courses, or at Dayton Valley. Discussing ways to improve the tour, Bill Henderson, marketing director at Carson Valley Inn in Minden, suggested golfers play two holes at each of nine courses in and around Carson City and the Carson Valley for a full 18-hole round.

Now in its 11th year, the Divine 9 golf tour is a cooperative venture between nine northern Nevada golf courses, the Carson City Convention and Visitors Bureau, and several hotels in Douglas County and Carson City. The Nevada Commission on Tourism has chipped in with a marketing grant for several years as well.

"It kind of morphed into this thing," Weidinger says. "We thought it would be a fun way to show off all nine courses, and it caught on. Guys like the concept when they can play an 11-hour round of golf, and it definitely gets their attention."

Courses involved with the Divine 9 tour include:

- Carson Valley
- Dayton Valley
- Eagle Valley East
- Eagle Valley West
- Empire Ranch
- Genoa Lakes Course
- Genoa Resort Course
- Silver Oak
- Sunridge

The current format of two holes at each course has definitely served to widen exposure, says Candy Duncan, executive director of the Carson City Convention and Visitors Bureau.

“In the beginning everyone wanted to play Genoa Lakes and Dayton Valley; the lesser-known ones were kind of getting left out when we left it up to the media to pick,” Duncan says. “The writers that come really enjoy it.”

Golf course managers pick two holes that best represent the flavor and personality of the course for the annual tour, which took place this year the first Monday of October. Holes commonly are tough par-3s over water, and long, rolling par-5s.

“They get a pretty good feeling for what the area has to offer,” Weidinger says. “This is like a golf course sampler.”

Weidinger says the tour has resulted in dozens of stories over the years extolling the virtues of the northern Nevada golf scene. This year’s tour included media representatives from the Stockton Record, San Francisco Chronicle, and KGO and KNBR radio in San Francisco.

“The whole concept of this thing is to provide exposure to golf in the area,” Weidinger says.

Adds Duncan: “The caliber of writers and publications that we are able to attract — I think that when golf fans read those stories by people that they trust in publications they trust, it helps them make the determination that this is the place they will plan their next golf destination.”

The biggest challenges in pulling off the tour: Getting up in time to complete 11 hours of golf before the sun goes down. Golfers often are finishing their final putts when the sun dips over the Sierra. However, Duncan says the twilight experience often makes good introductions to post-tour articles.

Her favorite Divine 9 tour memory: Waiting to hit her ball as deer crossed the fairway in the gloaming.

The Divine 9 tour was open to the public the past few years, but the logistics of three busloads of golfers descending on a course and interrupting play for regular-paying customers proved unwieldy, and event organizers returned to hosting media this fall.

“When you only have one bus it’s not that tough,” Weidinger says. The courses also have banded together to sell the “Ticket to Paradise” — a Divine 9 pass that includes a full round at each course, with cart and range balls. Passes sell for $265, or $30 a round. The money is put toward marketing the Divine 9 destination, attending golf trade shows, public relations efforts, the annual media tour, and maintenance and upgrades for the Divine 9 Web site (www.divinenine.com).

Weidinger says partnerships with golf courses aren’t very common, but it makes sense to join together to promote the region as a golf destination. “It is rare that one course would have the wherewithal to promote itself to a bigger market,” he says. “Not one of these courses could do this on their own, but banded together, along with the lodging destinations, they can pull it off.”

Gentlemen and Madams:

I'd like to take a moment to express my sincere appreciation of the effort that has gone into the improvement and maintenance of Eagle Valley Golf Course. Last year, when I assumed the position of President of Eagle Valley Men's Club, my number one objective was to increase membership and tournament play. This was easily accomplished as we experienced increases ranging from 25% to 30% - in spite of our economic downturn. How did this happen? Well actually it's quite simple - golfers enjoy playing on affordable, well maintained golf courses and arguably, Eagle Valley is the most desirable course in our area. Our membership has been very complimentary of the condition of the fairways and greens, as well as the improvements to the club house.

What does Eagle Valley mean to our Men's Club and our community? The answer can be found most any day by observing players fixing divots and ball marks as they refer to Eagle Valley as 'our course'. It's an asset to our community that we all proudly take ownership of and I would encourage your continued support into the future.

Cordially,

Marty Ramirez
President, Eagle Valley Men's Club

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I would like to take this opportunity to personally acknowledge the improvements made to the Eagle Valley Golf Course during the past several years under the direction of Jim Kepler.

First and foremost is the dramatic improvement of the fairways and greens on both the East and West courses, my expectations have been met and are exceeded in most cases. The addition of extra tee boxes for junior and lady golfers has brought further enjoyment to the game. Golfers are also now able to practice their game after work and on weekend evenings with the addition of practice range lighting. We have been able to hold more social events due to the remodeling and redesign of the Clubhouse. In my opinion, these improvements have made the Eagle Valley Golf Course the "best" in the Carson Valley and I am proud to be a part of their organization.

The golf course membership has grown and will continue to grow as long as we can keep up the wonderful reputation that has developed. I would support any possibility of extra funding in order to further improve this wonderful community golf course.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions regarding this recommendation.

Sincerely,

Annette Ramirez

Dear Mr. Kepler,

For the past four years you have offered the Eagle Valley Golf Course to Incline High School Golf team to practice and use your facilities not only for practice but for High School Golf Tournaments, including hosting two NIAA State 2A Golf Tournaments. You have extended your generosity to both our boy's and girl's golf programs not only for practice rounds but also free use of the driving range and other practice facilities.

Incline High School in return has ordered golf equipment, team uniforms, and offered discounts in buying player lunches for all the high school golf tournaments Incline High School hosted. All are greatly appreciated by our coaching staff, the school, and all our high school golfers.

In addition to all your help and support you have given any high school golfer who is currently on a high school team the chance to play golf complimentary if there is space available. This is also appreciated by our coaching staff and parents.

On behalf of all the golf coaches involved in high school golf in Northern Nevada and the Nevada Interscholastic Activities Association, I would like to thank you for your continued help and support of high school golf. Not only have you been helpful but your staff has always been willing to help us with our golf programs in many ways. I thank you and your staff for your tremendous help and support of High School Golf.

Sincerely,

Dear Jim, Dave and Staff!,

The Fred and Judy Alexander Foundation would like to extend its sincere appreciation for your support of The Fred Alexander Memorial Family Golf Clinics. We thank you for hosting our 2010 event and everything that you do to make our day a big success. I know it is a big day for everyone but that it truly felt 'at home' this past season being back with you, Jim. Thank you.

Please accept this is as a token of our appreciation for all that you do to make our work possible. Because of people and companies, like yourselves, we have introduced and instructed over 36,000 kids through our free Clinics around the country. Our Clinics continue to be very exciting and are wonderful opportunities for children, parents and those individuals with disabilities to get involved with the great game of golf.

The purpose of our Foundation's work is to make an impact on many lives as well as continue to promote our area junior programs, The First Tee and Play Golf America.

Jim, you and your Staff have been wonderful to work with and I truly thank you for all that you have done. Please enjoy the thank you plaque.

Eagle Valley Golf Deserves Praise

Being a long time resident and playing golf in Carson City for many years, I want to publicly commend Jim Kepler, General Manager, and the Board of Directors for the services provided by Eagle Valley Golf.

Under the leadership and ingenuity of Mr. Kepler during the last few years, the condition of the course is first-rate, the facility appearance is exemplary and the personnel staff in all areas is outstanding. The Eagle's Landing Grill provides high quality food and the newly remodeled banquet area offers a great place for hosting banquets or post-tournament activities. Service personnel in all areas, whether it be the Pro Shop, Restaurant or Maintenance/Grounds, are friendly and genuinely respect you as a customer. Many landscape improvements have been made throughout the entire facility which enhances the beauty of the area. With all of the work that has been accomplished and the continuing effort to make improvements, rates for local citizens and out-of-town players are a bargain. Promotions such as the 50-Mile club and Punch Cards make the rates very affordable. Whether you're a first time user, or have played there in the past, you'll be pleasantly rewarded to play either the East or West Courses. As a local citizen who has seen and experienced many changes to this facility in the past, Carson City residents can be proud of the many accomplishments and improvements that have recently been implemented.
