The City had the opportunity when making its contract with Jarrod Trust to restrict use; it did not do so. It would strain the interpretation to now do so. The City should not restrict the Jarrod Trust's use of this land, and should work with the lessees to adjust the trail plans.

The City should not pass a moratorium on hemp growth.

If the City is worried about damaging, obnoxious usages of public lands, it should not allow motorized vehicles on the BLM trails.
